Memorial Day Observance 1979

Perry honored its veterans of all wars on Monday with a parade and ceremonies at two cenotaphs.

The parade, the largest held here in years, moved in a light rain, along the flag-lined Main St., up Mill St. and S. Center St. to the Veterans Memorial Building on Lake St.

The joint venture of the V.F.W. Post 5009 and American Legion Post 350 of Perry featured a V.F.W. patriotic float depicting Arlington Cemetery, to honor the dead of all wars.

A salute to the dead was fired and taps were sounded as the parade paused in mid-Main St.

Music for marching and remembering was by the Perry Central Yellow Jacket Marching Band, led by their director, Donald Hughes and James Bischalaney.

Also in the parade was a large tank, marching veterans of several wars, a veterans Color Guard, Boy Scouts Troops 43, 44 and 45, Girl Scouts, Gold Star Mothers, Perry and Perry Center Firemen and equipment. The Perry Police Department and Wyoming County Sheriff Department also took part.

KEEP PERRY CLEAN

Last week, the committee for Pride in Perry, placed around the Village, 25 brand new 55 gallon drums for litter. These are painted blue with yellow PIP labels on the outside. The committee hopes they will remain in place for all to use. Keeping Perry beautiful is no less important than keeping America beautiful. They are intended for litter, not for residential trash and garbage.

Convention Ends On Soggy Note

Last week, May 24 thru May 27, the Perry Center Fire Department hosted the Wyoming County Volunteer Firemen's Convention under rainy skies and ankle deep mud.

Officials of the Department were most pleased with the support given them by Perry area citizens, various fire department, high school bands, and other organizations who were brave enough to march in the Saturday night parade in the rain.

Highlight of the four day festivity was the parade Saturday night when the marching units braved the adverse weather conditions. Keshequa High School Band took first honors followed by Mt. Morris, Perry and Wyoming.

Best appearing company with 15 men and over was won by Warsaw with East Aurora in second place.

Best appearing company with 14 men and under was won by Wyoming and Alexander was
